

B.A. in Anthropology Graduation Requirements 2006-2008

College of Liberal Arts & Sciences students must satisfy the following to graduate:

- 1) University General Studies Requirements
- 2) College of Liberal Arts & Sciences Requirements
- 3) Anthropology Major Requirements

1) Meeting the University General Studies Requirement:

A minimum of 35 semester hours plus the First-Year Composition requirement is required. Courses that fulfill the First-Year Composition requirement are ENG 101 & 102; or 105; or 107 & 108 (WAC 101 or 107 is also required in some cases).

The Five General Studies Core Areas: A single course cannot be used to satisfy two core area requirements, even if it is approved for more than one core area.

- Literacy and Critical Inquiry (L) – 6 semester hours with at least 3 upper-division credits.
- Mathematical Studies MA and CS Requirement – 3 semester hours MA and at least 3 semester hours CS. CLAS majors require a “C” minimum in the MA area.
- Combined HU and SB Requirement -15 semester hours, 6 semester hours must be taken in one of these two core areas and 9 hours in the other core area; and 3 of the 15 semester hours must upper-division.
- Natural Science-Quantitative (SQ) and Natural Science-General (SG) - 4 semester hours SQ and 4 semester hour SQ or SG.

Awareness Areas: A single course may be used to satisfy one core area and/or a maximum of two awareness area requirements. Students must complete courses that satisfy each of the three awareness areas: Cultural Diversity in the United States (C), Global Awareness (G), and Historical Awareness (H).

General Studies course lists are available in the ASU General Catalog, the Schedule of Classes and on the web at <https://sec.was.asu.edu/coursedb/genstudies/genstudies.jsp>.

2) Meeting the CLAS College Graduation Requirement:

a. Students pursuing a B.A. must fulfill the second language proficiency requirement. The fourth semester requires a “C” minimum grade. Through the 202 level for most, but for GRK must complete 301 & 302, POR and ROM must complete 314.

b. Students must also complete MAT 119 or higher.

3) Meeting the School of Human Evolution & Social Change Requirements for an:

FACULTY MENTORS

During the School of Human Evolution and Social Change's student orientation in early Fall, all Anthropology majors will have an opportunity to meet the members of SHESC's undergraduate committee. The committee includes the undergraduate advisor, the undergraduate director and faculty members from the different anthropology approaches (Physical Anthropology, Social and Cultural Anthropology and Archeology). Majors will also have an opportunity to learn about the educational mission of SHESC's approaches and degrees, as well as, academic and professional program highlights that may be of particular interest to students.

It is the student's responsibility to seek academic and professional guidance. When appropriate, the undergraduate advisor will refer students to one or more undergraduate committee members for additional help, guidance, and mentorship. Alternatively, the advisor--in consultation with the undergraduate director and another member of the undergraduate committee--may refer the student to another faculty member within SHESC or another ASU unit who may be best suited to provide advice for the student's particular interests.

A team approach that involves the undergraduate advisor, the undergraduate director and faculty members will allow students access to valuable information on: 1) different career paths that anthropology students might follow; 2) helpful courses in anthropology and in other areas; 3) important career-related background courses; and 4) advanced degree programs beyond the Bachelors in Anthropology. If the student has developed good, solid relationships with Faculty Mentors during their college career, the Mentors may agree to write letters of recommendation for graduate school and other post-baccalaureate career opportunities.

GETTING INVOLVED

It is important to not only get good grades, but also get involved with different activities. No matter what you choose to do after you graduate, you will need a resume and letters of recommendation. Below are some ways that you can make yourself more competitive once you graduate. For more information visit: <http://shesc.asu.edu/involvement>.

UNDERGRADUATE ANTHROPOLOGY ASSOCIATION

The Undergraduate Anthropology Association creates opportunities for professional development and networking with faculty and other anthropology majors that will promote skills for future success inside and outside the field of anthropology. The club sponsors various activities such as speakers on a range of topics of interest to students, informational seminars on pursuing scholarships, awards and advanced degrees in anthropology, field trips to local museums, and exposure to volunteer and internship opportunities. The Undergraduate Anthropology Association is open to all students. Visit them at: <http://www.asu.edu/clubs/uaa>.

FIELDWORK

There are plenty of opportunities for fieldwork within and outside of the School. Fieldwork not only helps build your resume and skill set, it also gives you the opportunity to get to know your professors. For more information you can look on the website, consult your advisor, or ask your professors. Go to http://shesc.asu.edu/field\_schools.

STUDY ABROAD

Study abroad gives you the opportunity to take college courses while living in another country. It looks great on your resume, plus, if desired, it helps you learn another language. The School of Human Evolution & Social Change has one summer study abroad program to New Zealand, China, Australia, Fiji and London. Information about these programs can be accessed at: <http://shesc.asu.edu/global>
